Our Environmental CO₂mmitment

The Genesan family of products harness the exceptional cleaning efficiency of natural, biobased surfactants. The use of locally-sourced plant materials allows Genesan to offer products that are both entirely sustainable and ecologically respectful. Many of these products have earned multiple environmental certifications, including the EU Ecolabel, Ecologo, GreenSeal and the USDA's BioPreferred Purchasing status.

Additionally, all Genesan products manufactured in Belgium are CO₂ neutral with regard to transport from their point of origin to the US. This is made possible through Genesan and Pollet's mutual support of carbon off-setting initiatives taking place around the globe. These programs have been independently verified by CO2 Logic, a European-based organization that calculates a company's carbon "footprint" and then advises on methods to offset the carbon dioxide generated in manufacture and transport.

Genesan currently supports a program in Africa that replaces poorly designed woodstoves used in cooking with more efficient stoves that burn fuel more cleanly and thereby reduce the emission of toxic fumes and smoke (CO₂) into the atmosphere.

LinPol Floorcare

Organic Cleaning & Protection

Cleans, Protects and Extends the Life of Floors

LinPol Technology Protects Floors While You Clean!

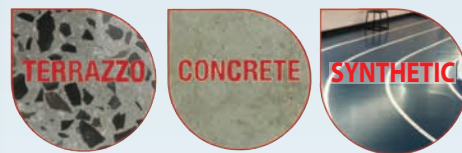

LinPol Floorcare products require no specialized equipment or extensive re-training of the staff. These unique products are exceptional at completely removing soil that damages floors while leaving a layer of protection that stands up to heavy traffic. In fact, with regular use, LinPol products will actually enhance gloss levels and lessen the risk of slip and falls.

Widely used in Europe for years, LinPol floor cleaners are now available in the United States. Whatever your flooring... natural or man-made... high-gloss or unfinished...even wood. Genesan has the solution.

How It Works.

The natural protection offered by a biobased floor soap, as well as its superlative cleaning ability, offers not only a very hygienic result but also provides a satiny protective barrier. This protective layer lessens the effort required to clean the surface and actually extends the life of the floor itself by minimizing wear. Within just a few weeks time, embedded soils in the surface will be fully removed. Unattractive wear patterns will vanish and the floor's original beauty will be re-established, the gloss restored and resistance to slips improved.

Our Customers Tell the Story.

Some of the world's busiest and most highly-trafficked floors are cleaned and protected using the LinPol floorcare program. Facility managers at airports, train stations, sports arenas, hospitals and retail stores throughout the US have discovered the benefits of cleaning and protecting their floors with no additional labor or costly equipment.
